ODD FELLOWS

HAVE AN "AT HOME" TO THEIR FRIENDS.

Mangum Lodge Entertains With a Social and Entertainment.

Mangum lodge No. 21, I. O. O. F., held its first of a series of "at home" gatherings last night, and the affair was a great success. The members of all the Odd Fellows' lodges in the city were invited and there were over 200 present. Noble Grand Carroll Jones called the meeting to order at 8 o'clock and routine lodge business was transacted, after which the team from Mechanicsburg lodge was given the floor and exemplified the ritualistic work in the first degree to a class of five candidates. The efforts of the members of the staff elicited approval from all present, the work being satisfactorily done.

After the degree work a luncheon was served, the refreshments being sandwiches, coffee, cake and cream. The lodge was reassembled and converted into a social session and smoker. Speeches were made by many of the brothers and a good time had in general.

The members of Mangum are highly pleased with the success of the meeting, and it is the intention of the different lodges of the order in Paducah to hold similar sessions during each of the coming winter months. Applications are now before the lodges for action and that means plenty of work for weeks to come.

Campbell Held Over.

On an old warrant charging him with housebreaking, Frank Campbell, colored, was given a preliminary hearing in police court today and was held over to the grand jury. He is accused of breaking into Jim Bulger's saloon on the south side of the city last December and a gun, the property of Mr. Bulger, that had been left at the saloon, was found at his home the Monday following the housebreaking, which occurred one Saturday night.

Washington, Nov. 12.—Annual report of Brigadier-General William Marshall, chief of army engineers, recommends the expenditure of 36 millions for river and harbor improvements next year.

Militia Patrols Streets of Cairo, Ill., and Governor Orders Troops Ready to Reinforce Them Without Delay

Alexander, Alleged Accomplice of Will James, is in Alexander County Jail—800 Soldiers on Guard.

William James, negro, suspected of the murder of Miss Anna Pelly, Monday night, was lynched at 9:15 o'clock last night, being shot to death after futile efforts to hang him under the street arch at Eighth street and Commercial avenue.

Henry Salzman, white, who murdered his wife some months ago, after years of cruel mistreatment of her, was taken out of the county jail and hanged to a telegraph pole at Twenty-first and Sycamore streets.

The mob then scattered, some going on a hunt for the negro Alexander, who had been implicated by James in the murder of Miss Pelly, but had been released by the authorities and could not be found.

Governor On the Job.

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 12.—Governor Deneen received a personal long distance message from Sheriff Davis at Cairo still saying the city is quiet. He has ordered commanders of all troops in the state to be in readiness to muster immediately and hurry to Cairo at first call.

Alexander in Jail.

Cairo, Ill., Nov. 12.—Arthur Alexander, third intended victim of the mob, is today a prisoner in the county jail here, guarded by 800 troops of the Illinois National Guard. Not until noon did the mob learn that Alexander was in jail. Many stories were circulated concerning his whereabouts. One was that he escaped altogether, another that he was spirited away in a policeman's uniform, another was that he was arrested in a distant city. Officers fear the peaceful aspect may change tonight, when the mob spirit may break forth again in an effort to lynch him despite the troops. Sheriff Davis now heads the city government, with troops as subalterns.

Quiet at Cairo.

Cairo, Ill., Nov. 12.—Soldiers parade the streets today, where last night an angry mob, lusting blood, hanged a negro and a white man. No crowds gathered to hoot the troops. The city is quiet, and the thing which was feared, a race riot, seems a remote possibility. There was no demonstration against the negroes as negroes go, but only against James. A vain hunt was made for Arthur Alexander, believed to be connected with the murder. Just before the lynching, James said, "Alexander helped." It is said the authorities saved Alexander by dressing him in policemen's clothes and splitting him out of town. Two companies of militia surround the houses of all public officials. The first company, locals, assembled at 1 o'clock this morning. The second arrived from Carbondale. Saloons are closed by the mayor's order, and martial law prevails. Negroes today are going about their business and there is no demonstration against them.

Once in the hut James said both he and Alexander ravished the girl, who was still alive. After midnight, when all was quiet, the two negroes were taken out of the county jail. It was learned early in the afternoon that Sheriff Davis and his prisoner had been located in the woods near Karnak, a station on the Big Four railroad, and a crowd of men numbering 150 at once formed in the Big Four yards to go after the officer and the negro. They demanded transportation on the regular freight train, which was about to leave, and practically took possession of the train. They reached Karnak in about an hour and were informed there of the probable direction in which the officers and their prisoner were located. They found the latter about two miles from the station in the

Will Receive Certificates.

Certificates of election will be issued to the successful candidates by the board of election commissioners next Monday. Sheriff Ogilvie will call the board together for that purpose as it will be necessary to issue the certificate to State Senator-elect W. V. Eaton by that date. The certificates would have been issued this week, but Mr. Charles Graham was called out of the city on business. Yesterday afternoon the four election officers of the Massac precinct were in the city, and exhibited to Sheriff Ogilvie their certificates which showed that Green Bennett was entitled to but 55 votes from that precinct.

STEAMER ROYAL IS SOLD AGAIN

SHE WILL BE ENTERED IN THE LOUISVILLE-WOLFE CREEK TRADE.

A contract for the sale of the steamer Royal, owned by Capt. Fred McCandless and Ben Kuebbler, to Capt. Richard M. Smith, of Wolfe Creek, Ky., was filed in the office of United States District Clerk J. R. Puryear this afternoon. The consideration of the sale was $2,500. The boat is now being run between Paducah and Pine Bluff, Ky., 60 miles up the Tennessee river, by Capt. R. S. Council, and has been doing a good business for two weeks. Captain Smith was entered in the packet trade between Louisville and Paducah. She will be entered in the packet trade between there and Derby, Ind., a 90 mile run. The Royal formerly ran between Paducah and Golconda before she was supplanted by the Ohio.

School at Needmore.

The county school board probably will replace the school house during the summer. Sixty pupils attend the school.

Brandenburg's Trial.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 12.—The trial of Broughton Brandenburg, the magazine writer, charged with enticing away James Shephard Cabanne III, the son of his wife, began today.

NIGHT RIDERS CAUSED VOTER'S TO BE AFRAID

Law and order people may contest the election of Jack Hanberry and Commonwealth's Attorney Denny Smith in the Third district. Many irregularities are complained of and the good government people are actively at work, investigating the alleged violations of the law. It is claimed that the night riders intimidated many voters and in one precinct in Lyon county it is asserted two alleged night riders stood within a few feet of the booths to watch the voters. The district is composed of Lyon, Christian, Trigg and Calloway counties. In the recent election party lines were swept aside and the clear issues were law and order against night riders.

METROPOLIS BOY SLEEPS UNDER LAPROBE IN ALLEY.

A boy, giving the name of Taylor, who said he was from Metropolis, was taken to the police station this morning by Patrolman E. C. Carter. The boy has been sleeping in a box in the alley in the rear of the fire department, and when found this morning was sleeping soundly covered up with a lap robe. At police station he promised the police he would return to his home, and was released.

HIS WIFE ELOPED AND HIS MIND IS WRECKED BY IT

Elderly Man Wanders Here From Far West and is Picked Up.

Said to be Wealthy Wyoming Farmer.

FOUND AT THE UNION STATION.

To prevent his being run down by locomotives at the Union station, Patrolman Casper Jones took charge of an apparently demented old man at 8 o'clock this morning. At police headquarters City Physician W. J. Bass was called and after questioning the man and gaining little information, the physician ordered him held.

The man told Dr. Bass his name was C. L. Channing and he remembered that he had recently left Omaha, Neb., and owned a big farm near Lusk, Wyoming. The man first refused to talk but when the city physician told him the object of his visit had left him and gone off with another man, and brooding over this he believed to be the cause of his present condition. Channing refused to be sent to Riverside hospital for a few days' rest and had to be carried to the city jail. His condition was such that it would have been unsafe for him to be turned loose.

Channing had $18 in money and checks for his baggage. He was acting strangely at the depot and was attempting to board every passenger train and switch engine that passed. He is about 60 years old and a few days' confinement here may restore his faculties, according to Dr. Bass.

Unknown Shot at Viviano.

St. Louis, Nov. 12.—What the police believe was an attempt to assassinate Samuel Viviano, uncle of Little Tommaso Viviano, kidnapped last August, occurred today when an unidentified Italian fired twice at a man across the street believed to be Samuel Viviano. The shooter escaped. Viviano can not be found. Italians saw shooting and say he was Viviano. Police are seeking both men.

MILL HAND HAD CHRIST'S HEAD.

Painting by Guido Reni Had Been in Family 300 Years.

Providence, R. I., Nov. 12.—In the belief that a seventeenth century painting of "Christ's Head" might prove of value, Giovanni Sanfilippo, a mill hand, who claims that the picture has been in his family for more than 300 years, sent it to New York today for appraisal. It is said that the painting is the work of Guido Reni.

TRAIN ROBBERS ARE CONVICTED QUICKLY

Omaha, Nev., Nov. 12.—Motion for a new trial was made today by attorneys for the five men convicted last night of holding up the Overland Limited train near here May 22. If the motion is overruled the sentence probably will be pronounced today. The men convicted are: Dan Downey, alias Donald Woods; W. M. Matthews, alias W. M. Marvin; William Torgenson, alias F. W. Kerr; Frank Grigware, alias Jack Gordon; Lawrence Gordon, alias Jack Shelton. All are said to be residents of the Pacific coast known for years in Washington, Idaho and Colorado. They are liable to life imprisonment. The verdict returned was late last night, after long deliberation.

NOT CHRISTIAN COUNTRY.

Rabbis Report on Irreligion Prevailing in States.

New York, Nov. 12.—At the Central Conference of American Rabbis, Rabbi Lefkowitz reported on the status of sectarianism in 53 American cities, covering 32 states. Thirty-five cities reported no Bible readings, and in eight cities only the Old Testament and some psalms are read. Thirty-one reported that no sectarian hymns are sung.

The committee on relation of church and state acted with the Union of American Hebrew Congregations to urge upon the immigration commission the elimination of the classification "Hebrew" from the list of immigrants.

The committee also recommended the publication of a tract supporting the contention that from a constitutional standpoint "this is not a Christian country."

White Victim of Cairo Mob Killed Paducah Girl and Negro is Known Well to Paducah Police as Bad One

Story of Lynching Recited to Reporter For Sun by Eyewitnesses—Confession is Made Before Execution.

Words can not depict the scenes at Cairo last night, according to the members of the Cairo train crew, who were witnesses of the lynching. Some of the leaders of the mob are said to have been prominent citizens of the city. No effort was made at concealment, and no masks were worn. News of the capture of the fiend spread rapidly and Wickliffe contributed a large load of citizens, who crossed the river with a gasoline boat towing them.

Every train that entered Cairo was crowded, as the surrounding country had learned that a lynching was certain. A feature of the mob was the large number of women present. Large automobiles were filled with women, and when the body of James was pulled upon the arch many stood on the seats of the automobiles, eager to get a glance at the man. While he was struggling for life and bullets were riddling his body, many women applauded while others wept. It was an unusual sight, but the women remained and were mingled with the mob as the body was dragged through the streets to the scene of the crime.

At the mouth of the alley lumber was piled up and the body soaked with coal oil, and amid applause, a woman applied the torch that burned the body of the negro. It was impossible to get within a few feet of the burning, but many women were surrounding the fire. As the flames leaped high there were loud cries and shouts.

All but the skull of the negro was burned, and with this held high on a stick as a banner the mob began its march for the jail to get Salzman. Not once did the women falter, but continued in the march, while many automobiles followed the gruesome parade.

At the jail the jailer said he had lost the keys, but the jail was battered open, and the white man, who cried for mercy, and said he was innocent, was dragged out, and his existence was soon ended.

James Confessed.

Before James was hanged he confessed to the mob that he and Will Alexander, another negro, were guilty of the crime. The mob said it did not want to hear his story. It is understood that James in his confession said he and Alexander were familiar with the route taken by the girl. They caught her Tuesday night and after knocking her unconscious, carried her to the house in the alley, where the bloodhounds traced the fiends.

carried the unconscious girl to the alley and there left her alive. The story was terrible for its brutality, and nothing short of an army could have stopped the mob. One white man pleaded with the mob to spare Salzman, and before he finished his speech he was knocked down and kicked.

Will Alexander, the negro implicated in the crime by James, was under arrest this week for the alleged crime, but was released by the police for lack of evidence.

The Cairo company of militia was called out, but the soldiers were powerless, and they with the police were used to guard the homes of Sheriff Davis, Mayor Parsons and the jailer. However, no violence was offered the officials. Other militia

REST ROOM AND A DISTRICT NURSE PLAN OF CHARITY

Philanthropic Women Systematize Work of Relief This Winter.

South Seventh Street House Headquarters.

CHARITY TAG DAY COMING.

System, effective in relieving distress and co-operating with the medical department of the city in preventing disease and reducing infant mortality, will be introduced in the operation this winter of the Charity department of the Woman's club, which, by the way, does not limit its membership to the Woman's club, but is open to all women interested in that work.

Headquarters will be opened about November 18 at a building on South Seventh street in the rear of the Tandy flats between Washington street and Kentucky avenue. Here a rest room for the poor, in charge of Mrs. Shaw, matron, and the office of the district nurse will be established. The club is now engaged in furnishing this place, and citizens who have furniture of any kind to give may call Mrs. T. C. Leech, chairman of the committee, Mrs. J. P. Smith, Miss Faith Langstaff, or Mrs. Clarence Sherrill.

Mrs. Charles Kiger is head of the department and the organization has plans almost consummated for the greatest year's work in Paducah.

The establishment of this headquarters does not relieve the club members of their work. The city is divided into districts with a chairman and four members looking after each district. But at the rest room all charity will be dispensed, and calls for relief of any character can be made there, too, the poor will find comfort and warmth, under the protection of the matron day and night.

The district nurse, who will arrive this month, is a Settlement worker with wide experience. In the city slums. She will be able to advise the club on the best means of relieving distress. Much of her work will be in the nature of instructing the ill and those caring for them in proper nursing and sanitary methods; the care of infants and the prevention of disease. The physicians of the city are heartily encouraging the charity organization and offering their aid in making the work a success.

Labor Bureau.

Another feature of the work will be a free labor bureau. All proprietors are requested to communicate with the organization any need for help, so that the number of unemployed in the winter may be reduced, and suffering abated. This will be a permanent feature.

Charity Shower.

The rest room will be opened, probably November 18, with a charity shower, when the public will be invited to visit the room and have a cup of tea, and see what is to be done and the equipment for doing it.

Tag Day.

The day before Thanksgiving, November 24, will be Charity Tag Day. It is the plan to pin a turkey with an appropriate sentiment printed on it, on every person in the city, to raise money for the benefit of those to whom Thanksgiving means the ushering in of a season of suffering and deprivation.

The ladies say they are meeting with enthusiastic encouragement and co-operation everywhere and it is believed that if every citizen does a little to help, there will be practically no suffering in Paducah this winter.

BLUEFIELDS MAY BE BOMBARDED

ZELAYA IS SENDING GUNBOAT THERE WITH FIVE HUNDRED RECRUITS.

Bluefields, Nicaragua, Nov. 12.—Prospects for a bombardment from the Zelayan gunboat, due here Saturday from Mobile, caused scores of residents to leave here for the interior. Zelaya's warship is equipped with several heavy siege guns. It is feared that resistance of the revolutionists to the landing of 500 troops, recruited in Mobile and New Orleans, will result in the bombardment of Bluefields. It is reported here that many residents of Managua are leaving the country to stay until the disturbances are decided.

Consumption Can Be Cured.

Mrs. Nettie Carter of Elkton, Ky., after her physician had told her that she had consumption took Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, and has been completely restored to health. Appetite is good, she sleeps well, and enjoys life without pain or ache.

"I had acute indigestion for two years, which kept growing worse. I employed several physicians without any benefit. I came near starving, as I could eat very little. For several months I suffered frequent attacks of vomiting, which made me very weak. Finally my physician told me that I had consumption. This filled me with terror.

"In an advertisement in the Nashville 'Banner' I read that Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey was recommended for Tuberculosis or Consumption. I began to take it in dessertspoonful doses four or five times a day, and a table-spoonful at bedtime. I am now strong and well. Cough, distress in my chest, and the indigestion are gone. My appetite is good; I sleep well. This is all due to Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, which I regard as an unfailing cure of consumption if taken in time."—Mrs. Nettie Carter, Elkton, Ky.

Thousands, both men and women, like Mrs. Carter, praise Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey for restoring them to health.

PENSION FOR RAILROAD MEN

NEW YORK CENTRAL, LAKE SHORE, MICHIGAN CENTRAL.

Subsidiary Lines to Be Taken Into Arrangements at Early Date—Hundred Thousand Men.

BIG SYSTEMS ADOPT PLANS

New York, Nov. 12.—Announcement was made by President Brown of the New York Central lines last night that at a meeting of the board of directors of the New York Central, Lake Shore and Michigan Southern and Michigan Central companies, plans for a pension system for employees of these lines were adopted.

Employees on reaching the age of 70 are to be retained and if they have been continuously in the service for at least ten years immediately preceding their retirement they will be entitled to a pension.

An employee, who has been at least 20 years in continuous service and has become unfit for duty may be retired with a pension, although he has not reached the age of 70.

Officials of the company declare that the pension system to be put into effect will eventually benefit 100,000 of the line's employees and will make necessary to distribute by the New York Central $500,000 annually.

The scale of pensions is one per cent for each year of continuous service, based on the average rate of pay received during the ten years preceding retirement.

The system is to be extended without delay to the subsidiary lines forming part of the New York Central system. The plan will be ratified at the next regular meeting of the New York Central dependent lines as they occur.

On January 1, 1910 the first batch of retirements will be made and 1,765 employees will be placed on the pension list.

News of Theatres

AT THE KENTUCKY.
Saturday—May Stewart, Matinee, "Romeo and Juliet." Night, "Twelfth Night."

May Stewart and her excellent company are at The Kentucky Saturday in Shakespeare's delightful comedy, "Twelfth Night."

"Sham," while primarily a comedy, is sound and wholesome in purpose and deals with a vital and interesting subject. It is smartly written and affords Miss Crossman an opportunity for some of the most brilliant acting seen on any stage. She is supported by a splendid company—the same which appeared with her during the New York and Chicago runs. Seats ready Monday 10 a. m. for her production here Tuesday.

When David Warfield appears here at The Kentucky on November 18, Thursday evening, in "The Music Master," he will be supported by the same company originally selected by David Belasco. Mr. Belasco is about the only manager who sustains the same standard of excellence for his companies on tour as the establishments when his plays are produced in New York.

Norton's Concert Band and Orchestra, so long prominent in musical circles are under contract to accompany the Al G. Field Greater Minstrels on a tour of the country, covering a period of 42 weeks.

The sorrows of earth cannot be cured by sighing for heaven.

A man who owns a fine coffee plantation in Jamaica said: "Four years ago I discovered that coffee was ruining my health and I quit and have been using Postum ever since."

Experience taught this man that he could not drink his own high-grade coffee.

Its active drug—Caffeine—irritates the nervous system, interferes with digestion, and trouble is sure to follow.

Some folks may take the hint and change to Postum.

It is absolutely free from drugs, and when well made, that is, boiled 15 minutes, it has a delicious taste similar to the mild, high-grade Javas, with the natural vital food elements of the field grains that repair the damage done by coffee.

Read that "little health classic," "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a Reason."

TEXAS WEDDING IS OF INTEREST HERE

MR. AND MRS. MURRELL BUCKNER AT DALLAS.

The Dallas, Texas paper featured a recent notable society wedding there at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Murrell Buckner, formerly of Paducah, as follows:

"A wedding of interest throughout the state took place last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Murrell E. Buckner. In Oak Lawn, when their sister, Miss Loula Johnson, became the bride of C. C. Wright. Before the wedding hour, at 6:30 o'clock, Frank Buckner and Yearby Chambers had placed the guests, leaving aisles for the approach of the bridal party. In the library plants and ferns made a hedged path for the wedding procession.

In the music room where the service was read, a canopy of southern smilax was built up and white Wedding Morn chrysanthemums studded the structure. Clusters of the blossoms were confined in baskets at the rear of the canopy and banked the pedestals, upon which seven prolonged candelabra held burning tapers. Miss Kate Schneider sang, for the gathering of friends, Grieg's "Ich Liebe Dich." Miss Maudie Watkin announced the bride with the Lohengrin chorus. Miss Anne Elizabeth Hopper, cousin of the bride and maid in waiting, entered first. She wore a Parisian gown of lace over hand-embroidered silken slips and carried white chrysanthemums. Mrs. Murrell E. Buckner attended her sister as matron in waiting. She wore a gown of eisel blue crepe meteor, with a tulle overdress of silver-spangled net, embroidered in orchids. Silver ferns were used in the blue bandeau on her hair, and ferns showered her bouquet of white blossoms. The bride entered with her brother, Murrell E. Buckner. Her gown was of meteor satin, embroidered in Oriental designs, and draped with clouds of real lace, which was a wedding gift from Mrs. J. N. Burns, of St. Joseph, Mo. Real lace bordered the veil, which was held in place with orange blossoms. Her wedding bouquet was of white rosebuds, showered with small lilies and ferns. She wore the gift of the groom, a diamond dinner ring. Dr. S. A. Hayden at the altar awaited the bride and presented her to the waiting groom, who was attended by O. T. Klepinger as best man.

While the vows were being sealed Miss Watkin played a pianissimo program. An informal reception followed the ceremony, and Mr. and Mrs. Buckner were assisted by a large house party of intimate friends. Among the out-of-town guests were Mesdames John S. Lowery, of St. Louis, J. N. Burns, of St. Joseph, Mo.; J. W. Mitchell, of Fort Worth, Pearl Lovelace, of Waco, J. L. Stegall, of Waco, Lorraine Rogers, of Waco, Mose Westbrook, of Waco, Miss Irene Moore, of Waco, and Chas. A. Culbertson. F. G. Pettibone brought from Galveston in his private car the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Keenan, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Hearshey and Mrs. Mensing.

Mr. and Mrs. Wright left last evening for a tour of South Texas and Mexico. They will be at home after Nov. 15 at the Park Hotel. The bride left in a blue tailored suit with beaver hat caught with bird of paradise plumes. The groom is prominent in insurance circles, and the bride, a native of Kentucky, has friends and hostesses through the south and west, where she has been a guest. The display of wedding presents represented all parts of the country. The rug which covered the wedding altar was a cashmere, woven for this purpose and sent by a friend in South America. A mahogany chest of silver from the friends of the groom over the state was among the gifts.

"Yesterday at luncheon F. H. Pettibone entertained on board his private car for the members of the bridal party, his guests and Mesdames Laura Chambers, Pearl Lovelace and J. N. Burns. The ladies were favored with clusters of American Beauties and the center decoration of the table was of the same blossoms. The plate favors were little old shoes filled with rice.

"On Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. Buckner entertained with a well appointed dinner for all of their out-of-town guests."

woods and compelled them to come to the station, where they got the south-bound passenger train which is due in Cairo at 7:45 p. m. The train was over an hour late. Some time was lost at the bridge crossing, where a large number of people awaited the train. It was feared that they would be interfered with at the station and they decided to leave the train at Tenth street.

When the train reached Tenth street some one threw a rope over the head of the prisoner. The sheriff removed it and was struck in the face by another member of the mob who again adjusted the rope around the negro's neck. When the train was stopped it was met by a party of men who had been previously notified and who saw to it that the coast was clear. A march out Tenth street eastward was quickly made; the plan, it seems, had been agreed upon that the negro should be hung under the steel arch at Eighth and Commercial. When the train reached the station the great mass of people gathered there learning that the prisoner was not aboard, surged up Commercial avenue with wild shouts and a fusillade of pistol shots, reaching Eighth street about the same time that the prisoner and his custodians got there. Here there was a fearful crush of people. A street car north-bound was stopped near the arch, the trolley pulled off and it was covered with people. The several hundred electric lights were turned on and illuminated the scene. The prisoner was manacled and with rope about his neck, was compelled to mount a barrel and ordered to tell his story. He declared at first that he was not guilty, but confessed finally that he committed the crime. "I killed her," he said, "but Alexander was with me and took the lead."

Many in the great mass of people had become impatient during the efforts to induce the negro to make a statement and there were demands for "work." "We don't want to hear him!" "String him up!" "Kill him!" "Burn him!" were frequently heard and the crowd pressed forward. In the meantime some one had climbed up the arch with a rope and was letting it down to the men below. This was greeted with shouts by the crowd. The lower end of the rope, a light clothes line, was fastened to the heavier rope around the negro's neck, and the man above was ordered to draw it up. The negro, in a last effort to save himself, lurched forward at this, but was firmly grasped and held in place. The continued shouts of the crowd below made it impossible for the man on the arch to hear the orders of the men who held the victim and there was much confusion. After five minutes futile effort, which seemed an hour, the other end of the rope was let down to the crowd and was eagerly grasped by a dozen hands. A stout pull was made and the rope broke. A storm of shouts arose at this from the mass of people and demands to "shoot him" and "burn him" were again heard. The decision to shoot him was quickly reached and the negro was rushed west on Eighth street to a point about 50 feet from the arch, and there shot to death. It was a terrific fusillade. Several hundred shots were fired, most of which went into the man's body. With shouts the rope was then grasped by a score of men and the body dragged up Eighth street to Ohio street, with the intention of throwing it into the river; but on reaching Ohio street the leaders changed their minds and determined to drag it to the scene of Monday's awful crime and there burn it. The body was dragged all the way, north on Ohio street to Twelfth street and east on Twelfth street toward Washington avenue. When the mob reached Commercial avenue near police headquarters it gave vent to shouts of derision and many shots were fired in the air. The march was continued with repeated outbursts and shooting to Washington avenue and north on that street to Twenty-sixth and Elm streets, where a fire was built with wood picked up en route, and the body thrown upon it. The fire burned slowly at first till some one cried out "Here's coal oil!" The oil was poured over the corpse liberally and the blaze flashed up lustily, with another great chorus of approving shouts. The flames revealed thousands of people on fences, on roofs or houses, at windows, and the streets and sidewalks a solid mass of humanity. The great majority of the people were silent spectators, not only here but at Eighth street and Commercial avenue, and all along the route of the march. The comparatively few men who did the work also were quiet and earnest. There were many women in the crowd, and all seemed to look approvingly upon the work that was being done.

When the fire had done its work some one severed the head from what remained of the corpse and stuck it on a hitching post at Twenty-first and Washington avenue.

The mob seemed to be satisfied and the crowd began to disperse.

But it seems the leaders had their plans but partially carried out. They went quietly to the court house, followed by comparatively few of the great crowd. They made their way into the court house yard and to the south entrance of the basement where the cells are located. The sheriff was in his office up stairs, and the first intimation he had that anything was wrong down stairs was a dull thumping. He went out on the porch and asked of those in the front yard, "What is it, gentlemen; what do you want?" but received no reply. On going down stairs he found about 25 men working at the heavy wooden door which leads into the cell room. He pressed into the crowd and beseeched the men to desist, but the quiet answer was "we want Salzman." Seeing that he was helpless he went to his office and endeavored by telephone to induce police officers and citizens to use their efforts to prevent further violence, but failed. Jailer Abernathie was there, but when some one called his name and demanded the keys, he left hurriedly by the north door. The mob leaders were in doubt at first which was Salzman's cell, and some one was called in to identify him. "Here's a man who knows him," and a man with face partially covered crowded his way into the cell room and picked out Salzman. Work on the steel door then began; one member was sent after a sledge hammer and when it was brought the knocks resounded loudly through the building. The jailer's family were huddled together at the entrance to their apartments and were in great distress, but were informed that no harm would be done them.

It was nearly an hour before the strong steel fastenings gave way, during which time the prisoner was crouched in one corner of the cell not uttering a sound. When the door was opened he was roughly dragged forth and conducted to Twenty-first street and Washington avenue, where an effort was made to induce him to make a confession. He protested his innocence. "Do what you please with me; I don't care," was his final remark. In a few minutes a rope was brought and flung over the yard-arm of the pole near by, the lower end encircling his neck. He was told to pray and he knelt down, mumbling a few words and arose, again declaring that he was innocent. But the leaders were not disposed to argue with him and he was quickly drawn up about half way to the top of the pole, and riddled with bullets from scores of pistols, some of which cut the rope and let the body fall to the ground. It was left where it fell and the mob then went in search of Alexander, the negro whom James had implicated. They went north to Thirty-fourth street, and some of them tracked down several rumors as to his whereabouts; but he was not found.

Salzman's body was taken charge of by his father at 1:50 a. m. and conveyed to one of the undertaking establishments to be prepared for burial.

Sheriff Davis' Experience.

Sheriff Davis tells a thrilling story of his efforts to take his prisoner to safety in the Danville jail, for which he was bound. After leaving Cairo he discovered several men on the train with him whom he knew to be from Cairo, and at Dongola he learned of the crowd awaiting the train at Anna. He was advised to leave the train at Dongola and did so. There also he came upon several men whom he suspected of unfriendly feelings and decided to get away, but could find no rig. He and the prisoner and Deputy Sheriff Fuller took the bottom road as previously stated intending to reach the Big Four, but met men on the road who spoke to them, and the sheriff was sure his whereabouts would be telegraphed to Cairo. The party wandered about in the woods all night away from the road, and early in the morning found a vacant house in which they lay down to rest. This was near Karnak and Mr. Davis went to the town to purchase food, returning to the house. Shortly after this a citizen from Karnak came and warned him that his whereabouts was known and that he had better move. Again the tramp was taken up through the woods; the party was lost for several hours, not knowing where they were or whither bound. They were about two miles from Karnak when the Cairo mob overtook them.

This morning at 2 o'clock Captain Greaney, of Company K, the local company of the Illinois National Guard, wired Governor Deneen as follows:

"One negro for rape and murder and one white man for wife murder lynched tonight. Situation in hand. No necessity for additional troops. No disorder, and perfect quiet prevails at this hour.

(Signed) W. P. GREANEY." Captain Greaney this morning had his men distributed at several points for the main purpose of preventing incendiarism, and destruction of property. He had squads at the residence of Mayor Parsons; at Chief of Police Egan's home; at the home of Jailer Lutz. He also had two or three squads patrolling Washington avenue at different points.

Militia Ordered Out.

Chicago, Nov. 12.—Governor Deneen telephoned to the sheriff at 11 o'clock last night and learned that the troops were needed at once to prevent an outbreak.

Daily Thought.
Make yourself an honest man, and then you may be sure that there is oneascal less in the world.—Carlyle.

A Nebraska railroad fireman, who stood on the cowcatcher and rescued a four-year-old boy, got a thousand dollars, two gold medals and the boy's mother as his reward. Fortune favors the brave.

The result of concerted action is demonstrated in the acquiescence of the Illinois Central officials in the request of Paducah business men that the evening train continue its present schedule. The officials did Paducah a good turn then.

Since the hookworm produces a condition of laziness, it is no consolation to a poor man that the rich are afflicted with it also. They get it either after they win their fortunes or inherit them. The hook is barbed when it enters the flesh of a poor man.

THE LAW DETHRONED.
The law, which has been a fugitive from Cairo, Ill., 48 hours, returned this morning under guard of the state's bayonets.

A wretch, accused of the most heinous crime mortal can commit, under arrest and presumably under protection of the officers of the law, was taken from those officers last night and lynched. For one whole day the chief officer of Alexander county with his deputies was ignominiously hiding "behind the brush, while armed men, bent on summary execution without trial, searched the strong house of the county, and authority in Cairo sat supine and helpless until the mob had executed its purpose.

Somebody was at fault. With the start the sheriff had with his prisoner and the knowledge the local authorities possessed of the uprising, and a militia company stationed right in Cairo, one would think the co-operation of the municipal, state and county authorities could have averted the bloody chronicle of last night's doing. In Kentucky we have managed these affairs better.

No regret is wasted on the guilty wretch, who died so suddenly last night. His was a hideous crime and hideously was it expiated. We lose no sleep over the unpleasant notoriety, which Cairo has earned and received. But there is an interest, which we have in common with Cairo and every other community in this land, be it ever so remote, an interest in the respect commanded by and accorded the law. Liberty under the law is the only safe liberty, and the first breach in the safeguard of our institutions will inevitably be a weakening of respect for legally constituted authority, either because of its recognized inefficiency or its failure to do justice. It is terrifying to think that a lawless mob may in a moment rise and even temporarily suspend the law, exile the authorities and unimpeded execute its frenzied will.

In instances of this kind, of course, there is no premeditated uprising with the overthrow of the government as its chief objective. The overthrowment of the law is but an incident of the mob's purpose, and lack of vigilance or foreknowledge of some purely human sympathy prevents the authorities forestalling the mob's desire.

Yet, success in a venture of this kind suggests hitherto unthought ideas to some of the lynchers. There was in that mob, no doubt, every grade of lawbreaker and criminal; men with malice toward society, men whose passions had been kept in check only through respect for the law, or previous lack of incentive. Excesses of mob violence may prate upon the chivalrous motive of its crime; but we suspect a call of the roll of Cairo's citizens, who have always stood for morality and righteousness in private and civic life, would have received few responses in that crowd last night. If that mob was performing a civic duty, we fear the best citizens of Cairo were singularly remiss in their social obligations for once, and the hoodlum element was suddenly turned reformer.

"Failing to find Alexander, James' accomplice," say press dispatches, "The mob stormed the county jail and dragged forth Henry Salzman, an alleged wife murderer, and hanged him and riddled his body with bullets."

That mob was thirsting for blood and hungering after the smell of roast human flesh. We know not what local conditions may have aggravated the situation last night; or what smoldering protest made dry fuel for the spark of circumstance. That is Cairo's to rectify. We only abhor the deed and fear the consequences; but hope our neighbors will take the lesson of this crime to heart, and mend the condition that brings law into contempt and makes it powerless to defend itself.

The Cairo Bulletin this morning charges the whole dreadful affair on the officers of the city and county and the courts in an editorial, which we quote in full:

"That Cairo yesterday and last night reaped the logical fruit of years of police misgovernment and rank miscarriage of justice in their courts, is not open to question in the minds of the people generally; and Rev. Father Downey's short address over the remains of the latest victim of the reckless and vicious element in the city, made bold by long continued official pandering, indifference and corruption, was the theme of hearty approval by all who heard it.

"The officers whom they have elected to administer the law against criminals having failed wilfully for years to do their duty—conviving with criminals; packing juries, procuring witnesses to bear false testimony, and prostituting justice—the people arose in their might and administered the law themselves, which was their only recourse. Repeated warnings sounded, by The Bulletin and by citizens, that this would come, were ignored with scorn by those in authority.

"The Bulletin has refrained from making any comment on the events of the last few days, desiring not to add fuel to the flames by telling some wholesome truths. But the time for silence is past; the worst has been done; Cairo and Alexander county have been overwhelmed with all the injury and disgrace that mob law can bring upon a community, and it is in order now to place the responsibility for this where it belongs in order that the awful lesson may serve a good purpose.

"It is but charity to presume that the mayor has not been mayor of Cairo so far as the police department is concerned; he has not done his duty; if he has not known that the controlling element of his police department is rotten with graft he has been inexcusably, pitifully ignorant.

"The same is true of the sheriff; who has been a mere tax collector, permitting Jailer Abernathy and other corrupt deputies to administer the criminal law.

"Both of these departments need to be cleaned out—at once. The people have a right to expect that this shall be done.

"The terrible story of yesterday means, above all things else, that the men of Cairo want protection for their women and children, without regard to race. It is not a 'race war'; the hanging of Salzman proves this; it was a protest against wanton murder, unpunished. It was a demand that the officials of the city and county shall not henceforth regard the vicious element as the controlling element."

THE TIME, THE PLACE AND THE REFORMER.

Mrs. Loebinger, leader of the suffrage movements, says the New York horse show is a disgrace.

"American women are naturally devoted to developing themselves and their children to the furthest possible extent. And they are modest and discreet as to taking unwomanly means to attract admiration and a following above, I think, the women of other nationalities.

"Yet here the finest women in the country take no very subtle means to attract and enjoy and ask the attention of men indiscriminately.

"Not only their own friends are part of this. The crowd of people they do not know streams by. And they triumph in the feeling of being the admired and envied of the crowd.

Yet, as a matter of fact, that exhibition of really modest and thoroughly fine women, in its essence, comparable only to the parade of the beauties in a Paris care.

"The horse is fashionable. And I have no quarrel with that, but the child might well engage the attention of these women, with their power and wealth, too."

deplore the lack of interest manifested in horse flesh. There is a time and a place for everything.

IN FRANCE.

In France, where they operate under the civil law and a prisoner is presumed to be guilty until he proves his innocence, their courts present strange scenes and public opinion operates the reverse of its course in common law countries. For instance, Mme. Steinhell was heralded as the "Red Widow" when she was put on trial for the murder of her husband and mother-in-law. The prosecutor in cross-examining her made such remarks as "watch this woman dodge and deny under the inquisition and prove herself guilty." To counteract the effect of the examination, Mme. Steinhell, in the hearing of the court, told the prosecutor that unless he modified his severity, she would tell everything she knew, whereupon, in deference to the reputations, it is supposed of the chief men of France, he acquiesced, and now public opinion has the Madame a much persecuted woman, and she is as good as acquitted already.

SPELLING BEE

MAY BE REVIVED IN PADUCAH PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Spelling contests may be revived if the pupils of the city schools take up the challenge extended by the pupils of the Whittier school for a spelling bee. The challenge was issued by Prof. H. L. Donovan, principal, on behalf of the school for any other school in the city to select a team and compete. The challenge has aroused interest, and there is no doubt that it will be accepted.

It is planned to have each school represented by about 20 pupils comprising the best word spellers in each school, and these teams will meet. Each school could have a team, and during the winter frequent meetings could be held, and a prize offered to the team winning the laurels. The school officials believe that the spelling bees will be of advantage to the pupils because of the interest it would create. All of the words will be selected from a text book published by Miss Georgia Alexander. The challenge is:

"On behalf of my pupils I, as principal of the Whittier school, challenge any school in the city for a spelling match on the following conditions:

"That the spelling match be held somewhere within the city of Paducah any time after December 1.

"That no pupil be in the contest above the B Sixth grade.

"That the words selected by Miss Georgia Alexander for the fifth grade be the words used in the contest.

"H. L. DONOVAN,
Principal of Whittier School."

HOW TO CURE SKIN DISEASES

This is the question that has baffled the medical profession for centuries. A great many medicines have been exploited for the cure of skin diseases without much success. Most of these remedies were salves or greasy lotions. While they might give temporary relief they did not have the power to destroy the germ life that causes the disease. You can now obtain from Dr. W. J. Gilbert, the druggist, a clean, vegetable liquid remedy for external use that will give prompt relief and permanently cure eczema and every form of skin or scalp disease. This remedy, which is known as ZEMO cures by drawing to the surface of the skin, and destroying the germ life that causes the disease. It can be used freely on infants. Mr. W. J. Gilbert says ZEMO gives the best satisfaction of any medicine he has ever sold for the treatment of all diseases of the skin or scalp.

River Ripples.

Leaving St. Louis at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon the City of Saltillo should arrive at Paducah early tonight on her way up the Tennessee river. This is her first trip out in several weeks, she having made the presidential trip to New Orleans.

With 80,000 pounds of scrap iron for the Kentucky Iron and Steel company at Paducah, four cars of lumber for Metropolis and other freight made up of poultry, eggs, hides and stock, the Kentucky came out of the Tennessee at 5 o'clock this morning. She unloaded here and left at 8:30 for below to unload. Returning tonight she departs for Riverton, Ala., Saturday evening at 6 o'clock.

Annie Hathaway, chambermaid on the Paducah and Evansville packet, Bob Dudley, was the victim of a hold robber Wednesday night at Evansville while she was eating supper. Hidden away in a purse, which was concealed in a handbag and locked in a suit case, was $65, which she had saved out of her earnings. While Annie was enjoying her meal the robber sneaked unseen into her room and, prying open the suit case, escaped with his booty. Detectives are at work on the case but no clew has been obtained.

The Bob Dudley is said to be experiencing difficulty in keeping rosters and most of her deckhands are white men. She is due here tonight or tomorrow.

Capt. W. W. Parminter's new steamer, which is to be run in the Cumberland river trade, will probably be launched Saturday afternoon at Howard's shipyards, Jeffersonville, Ind.

The crew of the Dick Fowler brought back news of the excitement of Cairo citizens and demonstrations made by a mob of enraged white men there yesterday. The recent crime there has aroused residents all the way down the Ohio from here to Cairo.

Barney Lee, second clerk on the Henry Harlow, which is lying up here, is busy with the paint brush on the Electra.

The Royal arrived yesterday afternoon from Pine Bluff and departed for there at 9 o'clock this morning. For Dycusburg the Ollie E. departed at noon today and returns tomorrow.

A rise is said to be forming at Pittsburgh and although rivermen here are dubious as to more water here for several more weeks they are expectant nevertheless. It will take a decided change for the better before business is booming around river chieftains.

Charlie Hamlet says: "If you don't like the trip get off the boat." The towboat I. N. Hook came out of the Tennessee river at 11 o'clock and went to Metropolis.

Capt. Frank, otherwise known as St. Malinski, left today for Cairo, for a visit to his mother, Mrs. Frank Malinski.

Capt. Frank Agnew, of the Chattanooga, returned last night from a visit in Arkansas City, Ark.

The Powdered Wig.

Civilization has to thank the French revolution and the subsequent wars for masculine emancipation from the wig. It was partly the scarcity of flour and the war tax on hair powder that banished the powdered wig, but partly also the leveling influence of Jacobinism. "I do not know the present generation by sight," wrote Voltaire in 1791, complaining that the young men "in their dirty shirts and shaggy hair have leveled nobility as much as the nobility in France have." JAMAICA ISOLATED.
Probable That Electrical Disturbance Troubles Wires.

New York, Nov. 12.—Cable connection with the West Indies continued interrupted today. The circumstances might indicate an earthquake on the floor of the ocean, but to accept the cable lines throughout the breadth of the Indies such a disturbance would have been remarkable in extent and severity.

It is possible some electric disturbance similar to the aurores borealis, will account for the trouble.

That Jamaica has been visited by a severe storm, with accompanying floods, was all that could be learned of the situation on that island. Holland Bay, Jamaica, in a meager cable today, reported heavy rain, high winds and an enormous damage.

IN SOCIAL CIRCLES

Secret Wedding Announced.

The secret marriage of Miss Edith A. Sisk and Mr. Ziba H. Williams was announced today and was a surprise to their friends. The couple was married last Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. James McGhee, an aunt of the bride, in Brookport, and after the ceremony they returned to this city. It was intended to keep it a secret until next week, but the news leaked out, and the couple announced the wedding today at noon.

Miss Sisk and Mr. Williams left home Wednesday night ostensibly to attend the theater, but instead went to Brookport in the gasoline launch of Mr. Paul Barnes. After reaching Brookport at 7:30 o'clock Mr. Williams drove to Metropolis, where the marriage license was issued, and he returned to Brookport at 10 o'clock. All was ready and the ceremony was performed by the Rev. M. H. Shanks. The marriage was witnessed by a small number of friends, Miss Georgia McGhee and Mr. Paul Barnes and Miss Monta McGhee and Mr. C. S. Utterback being the only attendants. At the conclusion of the ceremony the couple returned to Paducah at 10:30 o'clock.

The bride is the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Sisk, 927 Jackson street, and is an attractive young woman of the brunette type. She is a cashier at the Racket store, and popular in a wide circle of friends. Mr. Williams is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Williams, of Murray, but has resided in Paducah over two years. He is connected with the Hotel Belvedere buffet and is an industrious, sober and popular young man. He was a popular member of the city baseball team.

The announcement proved an agreeable surprise to the many friends of the couple. They will be at home to their friends with Mrs. Gannon at Eighth and Clark streets.

HEROES OF THE REVOLUTION

FORM DECORATIONS OF THE MILITARY COMMITTEE.

Reproductions of the Colonial Flag Plank Group on Either Side.

CARL RAKEMANN IS ARTIST

Washington, Nov. 12. (United Press.)—In the general renovation to which the capitol is being subjected in anticipation of the approach of congress, a novel and very artistic scheme of decoration has been adopted for the new room assigned to the senate committee on military affairs.

The artist engaged on the work is Carl Rakemann, who, although a young man, has already earned for himself a national reputation as a mural decorator.

On each wall there is a half-moon-shaped space which tends itself admirably to that form of decoration which artists term a lunette. In the center of each of these spaces will be placed portraits of the four leading generals of the Revolutionary war.

These are hand-painted, rather more than life size and taken from the best authenticated pictures available. Of course George Washington is the first of these. Opposite him is General Wayne, the "Mad Anthony" of history.

On either side are General Warren, the hero of Bunker Hill, and General Horatio Gates. The heads of these distinguished patriots are painted on canvass on an old gold background and surrounded by an oval wreath of laurel leaves also done in dull gold.

But perhaps transcending in interest even the portraits themselves is the scheme of decoration which flanks them on either side. This is composed of reproductions of old colonial flags most of which have long passed out of memory. Their reproduction in color on the walls of the senate committee room will be a matter of historic interest.

Their folds drape over pikes, muskets, swords, knapsacks, dispatch bags, helmets and head pieces, all drawn from pictured records of the time and true to history in every detail.

The picture of Washington is flanked on one side by the flag which was hoisted by him at Cambridge, January 1, 1776, which is called the Grand Union flag. It has a union like the English ensign, consisting of the crosses of St. Andrew and St. John in red and blue, with 12 red and white stripes. On the other side is another flag of the revolutionary period of 1777 which has a union containing 13 stars in a circle on a blue field, the remainder of the flag also consisting of the 13 red and white stripes.

Flanking General Warren's portraits on one side is the American Pine Tree flag, which has a union with the representations of a green pine tree on white ground, the rest of the flag being all red. On the other side is the Bunker Hill flag, the union of which consists of a red cross on a white ground with a green pine tree in the upper corner, the remainder of the flag being all blue.

"Mad Anthony" Wayne is supported by the Rattlesnake flag, which consists of the picture of a rattlesnake ready to spring, on a yellow ground, and so-called Massachusetts flag, which has a green pine tree in the center on a white ground. Across the top of this emblem appear the words, "An Appeal to Heaven."

On one side of the picture of General Gates is shown the American flag of 1818 with a union containing one large star made up of 20 smaller ones on a blue field. This also has the 13 red and white stripes. On the other side is the Liberty flag, which is blue with a white crescent moon in the upper corner and the word "Liberty" in white letters across the bottom.

Other colonial flags are represented in the background, but the ones described are the most conspicuous. It has taken a great deal of research in the archives of the congressional library and other institutions to secure the data from which to reproduce the flags and pictured accoutrements with historical accuracy.

The lunettes are each 14 feet long by five feet high. The walls of the committee room will be done in blue and all the rugs and hangings will be of the same color. Handsome crystal chandeliers with electric lights around the lunettes will light up the room, which will be one of the show places of the capitol.

An Honest Doctor remarked to his patient who had been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after his efforts had failed, "Mrs. Weber, I do not believe in patent medicines, but I will say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the best medicine ever discovered for women. Continue to use it." This is another link in the long chain of evidence to prove the reliability of this standard medicine for women.

A young man who was not particularly entertaining, was monopolizing the attention of a pretty debutante with a lot of uninteresting conversation.

"Now, my brother," he remarked in the course of a dissertation on his family, "is just the opposite of me in every respect. Do you know my brother?"

"No," the debutante replied demurely, "but I should like to."—Lippincott's.

MRS. FROHMAN GETS DIVORCE.

Margaret Illington, the Actress, Is Now Free From Husband.

Reno, Nev., Nov. 12.—Margaret Illington Frohman, wife of Daniel Frohman, the New York theatrical manager, was granted an absolute divorce by district Judge Pike today.

The hearing occupied only twenty-five minutes, but one other witness besides the plaintiff testifying. The grounds were non-support.

The document accepting service and waiving all rights to answer, sworn to by Daniel Frohman, was read during the hearing.

Mother Love Wins in Remarkable Case.

Victoria, B. C., Nov. 11.—Mrs. Antonio I. Loschiavo, whose husband was the central figure in an international case 18 months ago, has demonstrated the power of mother's love to sweep away all obstacles, recovering the custody of her two children after the international courts had wrangled over them for months and, in doing so, going from Australia to Europe, Europe to New York, New York to San Francisco and thence coming here without other resource than abounding faith, a total of 26,750 miles.

With her two little girls she slipped away from San Francisco on the Queen early last week, her capital consisting of $1. She was not proceeded against on her arrival and the Canadian immigration officers, after hearing her story, deported her to her home in Sydney, N. S. W., Australia, by the Marra, her troubles over.

Mrs. Loschiavo was separated from her husband in Sydney, the high court giving her the custody of the children, who were placed in a convent. Then the husband stole them, flying to British Columbia. He was held for contempt at the request of New South Wales, which for seven months fought in vain for his extradition. Gaining his freedom he took the girls to San Francisco and thence to Italy. The wife followed, getting from city to city and country to country in some manner, and recently rejoined her husband in San Francisco. There his cruelties were renewed and finally she seized a favorable chance and with the children boarded the north-bound coasting steamer, throwing the husband off the track with a farewell message stating that she had left for Samoa.

The loss of his job is apt to puncture a man's vanity and let a lot of egotism run out.

A JOYFUL PASTIME

It's Really a Pleasure to Cure Catarrh By Breathing Hyomei.

It isn't a pleasure to saturate your stomach with vile nostrums or to shock the tender membrane of the nose and throat with disagreeable sprays and douches.

But strange to say there are a few thousand people who do not keep abreast of the times who are hoping against hope that those ancient methods will rid them of catarrh.

If the readers of The Sun who suffer from catarrh want to banish this vile and disgusting disease forever go to W. J. Gilbert's store and get a complete Hyomei (pronounced High-o-mei) outfit for $1.00.

If it doesn't cure it won't cost you a cent because W. J. Gilbert will give you your money back.

Hyomei is so simple and pleasant to use; pour a few drops from the bottle into the inhaler and breathe it in. As it passes over the membrane and into the lungs with the air you breathe it soothes the raw membrane and kills the catarrh germs. Don't experiment longer. Leading druggists everywhere sell Hyomei for catarrh, coughs, colds, bronchitis, etc. Drop a postal for our free book, Roth's Famous People, Booth's Hyomei Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Not Yet. A Missouri clergyman had in his pastoral flock a member who was reluctant about meeting the contribution basket. The pastor had thrown out many broad hints, but all to no avail.

One day the member fell ill and was taken to the Ensforth hospital. When the clergyman arrived the man was delirious. While the pastor was sitting beside his bed a wild yell of "Fire! Fire!" came from across the street.

The sick man drew himself up on his elbows. "Where—where am I?" he asked excitedly.

"Calm yourself, brother," soothed the pastor, with just the faintest twinkle in his eye. "You are still at the Ensforth Hospital!"—November Lippincott's.

ALDRICH TALKS CENTRAL BANK

SPOKE IN DES MOINES, SENATOR
CUMMINS' TOWN.

Commercial Paper of Old World Was Discussed as a Possible Suggestion for Improvement.

TAKES SAMPLE FROM EUROPE.

Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 12.—Senator Aldrich, before the local Bankers' club, discussed the necessity for the reformation of the banking and currency laws, with the end in view of providing against panics like that of 1907, and went into details concerning the operations of central banks in Europe. This being the home of Senator Cummins, it had been expected that Mr. Aldrich would make some reference to that gentleman, who has shown an inclination to antagonize his policies, but the only allusion to Mr. Cummins was courteous and being made in connection with a mention of the late Senator Allison, could not have aroused any but the kindest feeling.

Mr. Aldrich spoke especially of the growing importance of the west as affording the best reason why the people of Iowa should desire a stable banking system, and he appealed to them to join him in devising a plan that would place the United States in advance of all other nations as a financial center.

Commercial Paper's Part.

Here he gave somewhat more attention than elsewhere to the important part that commercial paper plays in the banking systems of the old world. This, he explained, was not done for the purpose of urging the adoption of the European plan in the United States, but to indicate a possible means of increasing credit to ease it should be found desirable to go abroad for suggestions looking to an improvement over our monetary system.

In the course of his discussion of this feature of foreign banking, Mr.
Aldrich said:

"In Germany all notes, taxed or untaxed, must be covered by an amount of specie equal to one-third of the total issue and an amount of bankable bills equal to the other two-thirds. Those bills are what we call commercial paper. They must bear the name of two solvent parties and must not run for more than ninety days to answer the standard fixed for bankable bills. In France they have a provision that what are bankable bills there, must bear three names and must be written the same limit as to time as the German bills. In Great Britain the custom is to require two names of English citizens, one of whom must be acceptor.

Terminology Different.

"Of course, you are aware of the difference in terminology of our commercial paper and theirs. Our people use promissory notes either with a single name or with indorsers. No such thing as promissory note is known in the ordinary experience of

Intense Itching Eczema Drove Him

CUTICURA STOPPED HIS UNBEARABLE TORTURE

dry, scurfy skin
on my ankles and feet. The same,
in a few days,
was the case with my arms and scalp. I could

thousands of small red pimples formed.
On becoming dry, these caused intense itching. I was advised to go to the hospital for diseases of the skin. I did so and was an out-patient for a month or more, the chief surgeon saying: 'I never saw such a bad case of eczema.' But I got little or no relief. Then I tried many so-called remedies, but I became so bad that I almost gave up in despair. On coming to this country I heard so many accounts of cures by Cuticura Remedies that I resolved, as a last resource, to give them a trial. This was after suffering agonies for twelve months, and right glad am I that I did so, for I was relieved of the almost unbearable itching after two or three applications of Cuticure Ointment. I continued its use, combined with a laxative of Cuticure Soap and Cuticure Resolvent Pills and am more than thankful to say that after using three sets of the Remedies, I was completely cured. I can only add that should anyone be suffering as I did, I hope that they will do as I did, and I am sure of the results. Henry Searle, 2022 Cross

RAINFALL DELAYS DITCH.

Monthly Report Shows Less Excavation at Panama.

Washington, Nov. 12.—With a much heavier rainfall than was experienced in the preceding month, only 2,837,798 cubic yards were excavated on the Panama canal during October, as compared with 2,836,385 cubic yards in September, according to a report received in Washington today from Col. Goethels, chief engineer of the canal. The rainfall in October was 17.16 inches against 10.07 in September.

The amount of concrete, however,
laid during the month of October, 41,650 cubic yards, was nearly twice the amount laid the previous month.
More fill was placed in dams in October than in the preceding month.

WOMEN ROW IN WARRINER CASE

MRS. FORD SAYS SHE DID NOT BETRAY WARRINER.

So Far the Railroad Officials Have Been Unable to Find Out What Became of the $643,000.

A SENSATION IS PROMISED

Cincinnati, O., Nov. 12.—Mrs.
Jeanette Stewart, also known as Mrs. Ford, one of the women accused by Chas. L. Warriner, the defaulting local treasurer of the Big Four railroad, of having shared in his peculations by blackmailing him, declared last night that she would tell the whole inside story of the $643-000 theft when the case came to court. At the same time Mrs. Stewart denied she had ever received any money from Warriner.

The sudden breaking of the silence she has persistently maintained was caused, according to her own statement, by a quarrel, which she had with another woman who has also been mentioned by Warriner.

This quarrel resulted in the attachment of Mrs. Stewart's furniture today. The officers who made the attachment were quickly followed by reporters and in the stress of excitement Mrs. Stewart's reserve broke down.

"I never received a cent from Charles Warriner," she said, "and I never gave any information to the railroad about his shortage. It was another woman did it all; a woman
I thought was my friend."

Will Tell All in Court.

Then she added:
"I know the whole story, and I will tell it in court, too. It will make a sensation."

One of the women involved in the case started to leave Cincinnati last night, but was advised by the detectives if she left the city her arrest would follow. She then abandoned the plan.

At the present time the question which is exercising the railroad officials is what became of the $643,000, which Warriner admits having stolen.

Warriner claims he lost it in stock gambling and satisfying the demands of blackmailers; but that explanation is not satisfactory to the officials.

The stock plunging of the defaulting treasurer was conducted through
New York and Chicago brokers, according to his confession and so far investigation has been unable to trace the enormous losses he claims to have sustained in the last few years. Whether or not Warriner is penitent, as he asserts, his neighbors at his home in Wyoming, Ohio, declare he is a physical wreck.

It is admitted by the railroad officers that Warriner might have continued his depredations indefinitely if he had not been betrayed by a woman, and that even then he might still have fooled his superiors, so great was their confidence in him.

Mrs. Ford Talks.

Following the raid of her apartments by constables armed with attachment papers for the department store, Mrs. Jeanette Stewart, or Mrs.
Ford, as she is also known, broke her long silence yesterday.

"I never blackmailed Charles Warriner out of a dollar," was her sobbing declaration.

Mrs. Stewart declared "she would never again confide in a woman friend" whom she holds responsible for much of the notoriety she has attained. "This woman," she said, "I took into my flat and she occupied it while I was out of town. I thought she was my friend. She went to a department store and guaranteed my account there. Now we have quarrel, and she has gone up there and withdrawn her guarantee, resulting in this suit against me."

Mrs. Stewart explained her lavish expenditure of money in the past by saying that as the daughter of Martin Timmons of Portsmouth, O., she had inherited a large fortune and had not been dependent upon any one.

Mrs. Stewart denied also that she "tipped off" the local shortage in the Big Four department to the New York officials, and laid the blame of that at the door of the Cincinnati woman whom she charges with involving her in the attachment suit.

A physician was summoned to the Warriner home this morning and later in the day it was stated that Mr. Warriner was ill, but not dangerously so.

The railroad officials today denied emphatically that they had grounds for suspecting that the Warriner alleged shortage may go as high as two million dollars, and asserted that the maximum is $643,000.

Do You Know What Quaker is? Fisher Calls Your Attention to Positive Facts.

Why is Quaker Extract different from any other remedy there is on the market? Because you are not taking pills, pellets, or other dopes,
which are usually composed of some opiate or other and from the use of which you receive as much benefit from a sample as from a barrel-full;
and for this very reason they advertise to give you a "free sample" or a "trial treatment." You know that when a dose or two from a sample will show you wonderful results, you positively must be convinced that you are taking a medicine composed of some kind of opiate. Listen: Fisher, the Quaker Health Teacher, wishes to call your attention to positive facts. He does not claim Quaker Extract and Oil of Balm will positively cure Rheumatism, Catarrh, Kidney, Liver, Stomach or Blood Troubles, and will also expel all worms or germs from the system of man, woman or child. Why? Because it is composed of Nature's own remedies; it has been on the market for years, and today has that same wonderful curative power that it had years ago when it was the only medicine known to our forefathers, the Friends of Quakers, and has been handed down from generation to generation, and still maintains that same curative power. This is the reason Fisher comes to this city with the same confidence of curing the people here with the Quaker Extract that he has had in all the cities visited by him in the past. He is not here today and away tomorrow, but will remain here until he has accomplished his sole desire—to cure the people in this community; he proves what he says. The way he proves is by curing the people.

Fisher wishes you to call on him at McPherson's drug store, corner Fourth and Broadway, and have a talk with him; it costs you nothing.
He will explain in detail what Quaker Extract and Oil of Balm will do for suffering humanity. Anyone having a tapeworm will be given a bottle of the Extract free, just to prove that it will expel it, head and all, complete.

Fisher is at McPherson's, corner
Fourth and Broadway, from 9 a. m.
to 5 p. m. daily, and urges you to call. The remedies are sent to out-of-town residents on receipt of price:
Quaker Herb Extract, $1.00, 3 for Cleveland, O., Nov. 12.—That the Postal Telegraph company has acquired control of the independent telephone lines of Ohio and Indiana, and possibly Michigan, as the first move in a war of extermination on the Continental Telephone and Telegraph company and as a checkmate on the recent merger of the Bell Telephone and Western Union Telegraph companies, is believed by men high in independent telephone circles here.

They see significance in the refusal in Indianapolis of James Bralley, Jr., of Toledo, to discuss a question as to the Postal's interest in his acquisition of telephone stock. Bralley repeated recent denials of Bell interests in the deals.

Wm. Parr—England's oldest man—married the third time at 120, worked in the fields till 132 and lived 20 years longer. People should be youthful at 80. James Wright, of Spurlock, Ky., shows how to remain young. "I feel just like a 16-year-old boy," he writes, "after taking six bottles of Electric Bitters. For thirty years kidney trouble made life a burden, but the first bottle of this wonderful medicine convinced me I had found the greatest cure on earth. They're a godsend to weak, sickly, rundown or old people. Try them. 50c at all druggists."

Men high in the counsels of the United States Telephone company declare Bralley's refusal to discuss the Postal means either that the Postal already has acquired control of these companies or that the Toledo financier is playing a huge game, with the stakes running into millions. They assert the Postal owns the control or that the Postal will be one of three great interests to bid for that control. The others will be the Bell interests and the house of Altheimer, Rollings of St. Louis, the great private banking house.

The latter, in the second alternative of these telephone men, will sit in at a great faction of independent telephone properties in behalf of the Continental Telephone and Telegraph company, in which this house, through Herman C. Stifel, its manager, is heavily interested.
